To date, [REDACTED] is still reluctant to give the name of UI to law enforcement because she has yet to gain permission from UI to do so. [REDACTED] informed the interviewing agents that UI is in his [REDACTED] and still living in the [REDACTED] Georgia area. UI's [REDACTED] is deceased. Atlanta has stressed to [REDACTED] the importance of the information UI could provide and [REDACTED] is currently working with Atlanta to gain the trust of UI in order for him to come forward and give a statement.

It should be noted that a review of the 1946 investigation determined that two of Loy Harrison's brothers, Earnest Harrison and Rex Harrison, were interviewed in 1946. Loy, Earnest, and Rex Harrison are all deceased, however, all had strong ties to two of the suspects who are still alive, Randall Whitehead and [REDACTED]

In addition, Atlanta has reviewed the limited information available from the 1946 FBI file regarding the Federal Grand Jury convened in December 1946. Of the witnesses listed in the file that were expected to testify, a majority have been determined to be dead, however, [REDACTED] was found to be alive and living in [REDACTED] According to the 1946 file (44-HQ-1421, section 23, serials 382-432), in a memo dated November 29, 1946, agents anticipated calling [REDACTED] (age [REDACTED] in 1946) before the Grand Jury [REDACTED] day of the murders, July 25, 1946. This statement effectively

established in 1946.

b7D

Using the above information coupled with other witness and subject statements, both from the current and the 1946 investigation, a growing list of suspects have now been placed in Monroe on July 25, 1946 at or about the same time as Loy Harrison was bonding Roger Malcom out of jail, and shortly before the murders occurred. This information will be further detailed in a future communication.

Atlanta is continuing its investigative effort on this matter and within the next 30 to 45 days will conduct the following investigation:

1. Interview the remaining family members of Clarence Hester and Jack Turnell Malcom who were alive in 1946 to determine if they can provide any further information regarding Hester and Malcom's activity on the day of the murders.
2. Determine the identity of UI and obtain a detailed statement from him.
3. Once item 1 and 2 have been completed, Atlanta will re-interview two of the suspects who are still alive, and who are most significant to the current investigation, Randall Whitehead and [REDACTED]

b6
b7C

It should be noted that Atlanta has delayed the interviews of subjects Whitehead and [REDACTED] until all other investigation is complete. Both subjects have been interviewed at least once during the modern era investigation (1999 to present), which produced no useful information. For that reason, Atlanta believes that all leads should be exhausted prior to the interview, especially if UI is willing to give a statement.

As Atlanta continues to investigate this matter updates will be provided to FBIHQ Civil Rights Section.

Special Agent [redacted] met with GBI Chief Medical Examiner [redacted] to discuss the possibility of physical evidence remaining with the bodies of the four murder victims in the Moore's Ford investigation, and the chances of recovering the evidence if the bodies could be exhumed.

[redacted] was able to offer his opinion based on the assumption that the bodies were properly embalmed, according to 1946 standards, that each body was placed in a wood casket, and that the caskets were buried directly in soil and not placed in concrete vaults underground (which would be unusual for 1946). Given those factors, [redacted] concluded that approximately 5-7 years after burial (1951-1953) all flesh would most likely have decomposed and only skeletal remains would be present inside the casket. After approximately 10-15 years (1956-1961) the skeletal remains would begin decomposing. [redacted] estimated that 15 years after burial (1961) would be the last opportunity to conduct a thorough forensic examination of the body, which could determine injuries to the bodies, and recover any potential evidence present on the bodies. At the present time, 63 years after burial, [redacted] concluded that very little would remain in the ground at the grave site of each victim. [redacted] stated that most likely a majority of the casket would be completely decomposed, and all but teeth and small bone fragments would remain from each body.

It should be noted that the above scenario is the "best" case scenario for the victims' burial and decomposition rate. Had the victims not been properly embalmed or placed in caskets for burial, [redacted] concluded that the rate of decomposition would have occurred more rapidly and less would remain at the grave site today.

In addition, had any bullets or projectiles not been recovered from the bodies by investigators in 1946 and remained with the bodies for burial, [redacted] concluded that those too would have undergone a decomposition process. [redacted] further concluded that if those bullets and projectiles could be located at the grave site, that they would be so badly decomposed that they would not possess any identifiable characteristics to match with a potential firearm.

Based on the above information, [redacted] concluded that nothing of evidentiary value would be gained by exhuming the bodies of the victims.

HESTER does not remember his father ever owning a pistol or handgun, but does remember that his father had a 12 gauge shotgun. HESTER is not sure what happened to that gun.

HESTER stated that in 1946 it was unusual to go to Monroe, Georgia from the Hestertown area frequently. HESTER stated that when they went to Monroe there was always a purpose behind the trip, such as getting supplies or groceries. HESTER added that his family would usually only go once a week, on Saturdays. HESTER believed to go into Monroe more frequently would have been a waste of money.

HESTER knew LOY HARRISON. HESTER remembered that after he returned home from World War II that he often went rabbit hunting on HARRISON's property. HESTER does not remember he or his family ever buying alcohol(moonshine) from HARRISON.

EDNA FRANCIS LEMONDS HESTER, date of birth September 20, 1924, home telephone number 770-267-6295, was interviewed at her residence, [redacted] Monroe, Georgia, in the presence of [redacted]

[redacted] After being advised of the identities of the interviewing agents and the nature of the interview, HESTER provided the following information:

b6
b7c

HESTER stated that she met and married HERBERT HESTER a short time after the end of World War II. HESTER stated that HERBERT HESTER tried to go into the UNITED STATES ARMY during World War II, but was disqualified for a medical condition. They remained married until HERBERT HESTER died in approximately 1995. They did not have children.

Until recently HESTER was living with her sister OSSIE MAY HANSON, but a fire destroyed their home and killed HANSON. Since the fire HESTER has been living with [redacted]

HESTER's father was EMORY LEMONDS and her mother was GEORGIA LOU HAWK, both of whom are now deceased.

In 1946 HESTER stated that she and HERBERT were living on Hestertown Road in the Hestertown area of Monroe, Georgia. Their house was situated in between FRANCIS and HESTER KNIGHT's home and ROBERT [redacted] KNIGHT's home. HERBERT HESTER worked as a cotton farmer while HESTER worked at CARWOODS MANUFACTURING PLANT as well as helping her husband with the farm.

According to HESTER, after the murders occurred at the Moore's Ford Bridge on July 25, 1946 everyone in the community was talking about it, but no one knew who had done it or who could have witnessed it. HESTER does not know who was involved in the murders nor was she ever told who could have been involved. HESTER stated that the only thing she knew about the murders was that BARNETTE HESTER had told his family not to do anything to the person that stabbed him.

HESTER agreed that someone from the HESTER family was most likely involved in the murder, but she had no idea who that Synopsis: To report results of a file review.

Details: A continued review of the 1946 FBI file in captioned case revealed a memo dated January 7, 1953, which indicated that an FBI source [redacted] reported that Bomen Elmer Densmore (spelled "Dinsmore" in the 1946 file) knew the identities of some of the suspects who murdered four individuals at the Moore's Ford Bridge in Walton County, Georgia on July 25, 1946. Specifically, the FBI source indicated that Densmore was to go on trial for the murder of James Bradley Verner, a suspect in the 1946 murders, and that Densmore planned to bring out in the trial that Verner was a part of the 1946 murders and had told Densmore of his involvement in the murders. Additionally, Densmore planned to furnish the names of other persons involved in the 1946 murders, which Verner had allegedly told Densmore.

[redacted] FARMER told [redacted] that as a boy he had been present and witnessed several black people being murdered. At first [redacted] did not believe FARMER, but quickly realized from his tone and the way he told the story with such detail that FARMER was telling the truth. [redacted] indicated that FARMER only told her the story on two occasions, but that each time she noticed a demeanor change in FARMER where she knew he was serious and truthful.

At the time she was told, [redacted] stated that FARMER told her very specific details including the names of people who were present and how the actual murders occurred, however, with the passage of time [redacted] could not recall the names or details any longer. The only details [redacted] recalled was that FARMER was wearing overalls the day of the murders and that he watched the murders occur while hiding in a cotton or corn field. [redacted] further recalled that the black victims were shot and/or hung near or under a bridge in Walton County, Georgia near where FARMER grew up. [redacted] was sure that FARMER told her who was involved and committed the murders because FARMER knew them, but she could not remember those names and did not want to guess or falsely accuse someone.
